KANSAS SHAKEN BY EXPLOSION OF BIG METEOR

Blast High in Sky Terrifies Residents of Large Area.

By The United Press

TOPEKA, Kans., Feb. 19—[illegible] said today they believed a terrific explosion high in the skies over Kansas last night was caused by a meteor which [illegible] when it entered the atmosphere

[illegible] from the blast broke windows, rocked buildings and set fire to pastures over a wide area in Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

The meteor left a smudge of white smoke extending across a wide segment of the sky before it exploded about 5:01 p. m.

It appeared to have been a terrific explosion. There was no sound.

The explosion terrified thousands of people across the three-state area. Many believed their homes had been hit by trucks as the walls and windows were smashed.

Windows rattled as though the gasoline explosion a block away had occurred, said M. R. Krehbiel, editor of the weekly Norton County News.

Eyewitnesses there were a lot of the explosions, something like the [illegible] after a big thunderclap. He had a cracked window in his office and the concussion blew out the glass."

Exploded 30 Miles Up

Krehbiel said the meteor apparently exploded directly over the town of Norcatur, Kans., 16 miles west of here. By estimating the angle from the earth to the point of explosion, he decided that the meteor blew up about 30 to 35 miles above the earth.

"It was just about the most exciting thing that happened around here in a heckuva long time," he said. Everybody in the area ran out of their houses. They stood around for hours looking at that long streak of smoke up there."

The smoke trail started over Nebraska to the north and ran southwards, twisting over upon itself in 'jelly-rolls' like the vapor trail of a plane out of control. It was broad at the explosion point and narrowed back to a point at the spot where the meteor first entered earth's atmosphere.

The meteor was felt, as far away as Buffalo, Okla., 230 miles south of here, and Sharon Springs, Kan., 115 miles southwest. Other reports came from Dodge City, Brookville, Beloit, Solomon, Salina, Russell, Concordia and Osborne, all south of here.

Many airfields in the vicinity organized search planes in the belief that an airplane had exploded in flight.

Many people believed that a jet airplane had exploded instead of a meteor. Scientists, Army officers and other officials said that was impossible because of the extreme altitude of the explosion. Some people blamed the explosion on "flying saucers."

Planes Circle Area

Two Army B-29 bombers circled over the area until nightfall but the Army did not issue a statement.

Thousands of persons climbed into their automobiles and converged on Norton and Norcatur last night in the belief that a major catastrophe had occurred there. Many roads were jammed with cars lined up on the shoulders, their occupants craning their necks from the windows to gaze at the meteor's trail and watch their circling B-29's.

The smoke trail still hung in the sky when night fell.

The meteor apparently disintegrated completely. No fragments were found although many persons looked for bits of the stellar visitor today.

Two Marion Clergymen Speak At Erie Chairmen's Banquet

By SCOTT McMURRAY

Two Marion clergymen were featured speakers at a dinner last night which was a high spot of the quarterly meeting of the Association of General Chairmen, Standard Railroad Organizations of the Erie system, held in Marion yesterday and today. At the dinner, held in the social rooms of the Wesley Methodist church on Oliney avenue, the General Chairmen's association delegates were guests of the newly organized Marion Local Chairman's association of the Erie system. Approximately 200 persons attended.

The opening address was given by the Very Reverend William J. Spickerman, V. F., pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church and the main address of the evening was by Dr. Edwin A. Brown, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church.

For the opening address Rev. Spickerman spoke on the Catholic church and its long-time interest and policy on labor. Rev. Spickerman recalled for his audience that Pope Leo and Pope Pius XI had both written encyclicals on labor which set the pattern for thought concerning the lot of the working man for many years following their issuance.

He cited the error of Eugene V. Debs in ignoring the labor policy of the Catholic church by accepting the creed of socialism.

"The Catholic church has always held a firm belief in the ownership of private property," said Rev. Spickerman. "As the ownership of private property is opposed by the Socialists, the church could not accept and support Debs completely. This divergence of opinion between Debs and the church forestalled great gains for labor which might have been secured many years ago by a united front of both the church and labor."

Calls for Unity

Rev. Spickerman cut short his address to answer a call from the hospital to minister to an ailing member of his faith.

Before leaving he called for unity between churches and unity between labor groups. He pointed to the fact that most differences existing between labor groups, as between churches, were very minor and that by a program of regular meetings to discuss problems between them, both the churches and labor unions could establish an accord which would set them as an example of peace and unity for the nation as a whole.

Dr. Brown's topic was a line from the poem of Edward Markham, "The Man with the Hoe," which reads "The long, long, patience of the plundered poor."

"Most Americans have a heritage, which regardless of their wealth today may be traced to ancestors who made their living by the sweat of their brow," Dr. Brown said. He recalled having worked 10-hour days in his youth for a pay rate of 6½ cents an hour. He called his part as a young minister, in Crestline during the ill-fated strike of railroad shop men in 1922. Ten years later the cause for which the men struck was validated by the U. S. Supreme Court, he stated.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Wagner act gave organized labor its first full charter," he continued.

Reviews Union History

The speaker then traced the history of the causes which brought about the need for organization by labor.

"The invention of the steam engine in England by James Watt in 1765 brought to an end the day of England's hand craftsmen who owned their own tools and were independent of any supervision by capital," he said. "The adaptation of the steam engine to manufacturing machines by another Englishman 10 years after Watt's invention brought a flood of cheap goods to England which doomed the hand craftsmen. The advent of steam powered machines divorced the workman from his tools. Abuses were widespread. Men clung to the old ways until the last quarter of the 19th century when the gathering seed of unrest culminated in the great strikes in this country, notably the Haymarket Riots and the Pullman strike in Chicago and the Homestead strikes in Pittsburgh.

"In any warfare, be it industrial or military, sanity and good judgment go out the window. When men's passions are aroused it is a poor hour for reason. In an industrial war, as in a military war, the greatest power wins and too often in an industrial war the victory goes to the side with the greatest financial power at its disposal. Until after World War I, the winning power in this country

FARM HOME NEAR GALION DESTROYED

Fire Wipes Out Lester Garner House and Contents.

Special to The Star

GALION, Feb. 19—The semi-modern farm home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Garner of five miles southeast of here was destroyed by fire at 7:30 a. m. today. The furnishings, including a deep freeze unit, together with the clothing of the couple were destroyed in the fire.

Origin of the fire could not be determined. The loss, estimated at around $10,000, is partially covered by insurance. The blaze was discovered in the roof of the house by Mr. Garner, who was working at the barn. Galion firemen were called. Because a high wind was blowing in the opposite direction, the large bank barn and garage were saved.

The 11-room house is located in North Bloomfield township, Morrow county, and belongs to Mrs. Charles Smith of south of Galion. It was built in 1882 by her father, E. W. Kinsey. The Garners, who are past 70 years old, have occupied the home for the last four years. Mr. and Mrs. Garner are at the home of Mrs. Smith.

NAZI GENERAL SENTENCED TO LIFE IN PRISON

Field Marshal Wilhelm List, 7 Other Generals, Guilty of War Crimes.

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, Germany, Feb. 19—Field Marshal Wilhelm List, whose German armies killed hostages by the hundreds, was sentenced today to life imprisonment.

Seven Nazi generals tried with him also were convicted of war crimes. They drew sentences ranging from seven years to life. Two generals were acquitted.

The American war crimes court ruled that some of the 1,63 000 killings for which the group was held responsible were plain murder.

It added hostages may be slain by an occupation force to maintain order under international law. This may be done, however, only if the individuals selected for death bear some relation to the crime committed against the occupation forces, the court ruled.

The defendants were charged with responsibility for killing hostages in Greece, Yugoslavia and Albania. The court lashed Gen. Helmuth Felmy—who received a 15-year sentence—as being responsible for calculated cold-blooded murder of infants and aged.

The court deplored the "complete failure on the part of the nations of the world" to outlaw the killing of members of a conquered population.

"It is not our province to write international law as we would have it," the decision said. 'We must apply it as we find it."

With a hostage ruling as a preamble, the court meted out these sentences:

The Sentences

List, a grim-lipped Prussian of the old German officers' school, life imprisonment.

Gen. Walter Kuntze, a List army group commander, life.

Gen. Lothar Rendulic, chief of the Second Panzer army, 20 years.

Gen. Wilhelm Speidel, 20 years.

Gen. Hubert Lanz, 12 years.

Gen. Felmy, 15 years.

Gen. Ernst Dehner, seven years.

Acquitted were:

Gen. Hermann Foertsch, chief of the 12th army staff.

Maj. Gen. Kurt Van Geitner, chief of staff in Serbia.

Field Marshall Maximilian Von Weichs, also indicted in this case, was removed from the trial recently because of a heart ailment. Another defendant, Maj. Gen. Franz Boehme, killed himself last July.

The charges against all the defendants were war crimes and crimes against humanity.

The court said:

"War at its best is a dirty business but under no circumstances can cold-blooded mass murder be considered as related even remotely to the exigencies of war."

Killed Greeks, Serbs

In the trial, the records showed that List's armies killed a hundred Serbs or Greeks for each German soldier killed by partisans, and at least 50 for each Nazi wounded.

Indicating List's penalty for his guilt may not be harsh, the court said "his orders and directives were more moderate than his superiors."

Kuntze was compared to List in this respect, with mitigation apparently part of the sentence to be handed down later today.

The court said partisans killed during the German occupation were mostly illegal units which deserved no protection from international law.

Despite conviction of the two top men in the dock, the court placed much of the blame for the terror campaign in the Balkans on

GRAIN PRICES UP SLIGHTLY

Commodities Display General Tendency To Gain in Today's Trading.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Most commodity prices advanced slightly today.

Oats pushed ahead fractions of a cent generally at the opening of the Chicago grain pits. Corn was half a cent below previous quotations to 1¾ cents above. Wheat ran from ¼ of a cent lower to 1¾ cents higher.

Lard was less than a cent ahead. Hide and cottonseed oil were down.

The hog market at Chicago opened slow with a few early sales 25 cents a hundred pounds under yesterday's final prices.

Stocks were irregular and price changes were narrow.

Cotton futures at New York opened with prices ranging from 5 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher but within a matter of minutes a fair amount of mill buying pulled the range up to 40 to 80 cents a bale above yesterday's close.

The housewife was faced with conflicting price trends at the grocery store.

New York chains increased butter prices five cents a pound to 89 cents. But a Chicago chain cut its retail tag 6 cents to 83.

Two chains at New York reduced some meats and poultry.

A business bulletin survey indicated the typical New York City housewife is able now to feed a family of five at a weekly cost of $31.15 against $35 a month ago.

Uncertainty and caution appeared to dominate consumers, storekeepers and traders.

The nation's markets reflected this yesterday. The commodity exchanges were nervous. Prices bounced around in rapid reaction to varying announcements. Only 610,000 shares were traded on the New York Stock Exchange in the quietest session since last September.

STATE ADVISES HOSPITAL PLAN SURVEY HERE

Recommendation on Federal-State Aid Program Made at Conference.

A survey of the Marion City hospital situation by the state health department hospital engineer was recommended at a conference here yesterday on the federal-state hospital construction program.

The conference held at 3 p. m. in the City hall was attended by C. J. Mosher of Columbus, representing the state health department office of hospital facilities, and J. H. Felton and Miss Mary Prosel of the Chicago office of the U. S. department of health.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler, Safety-Service Director F. O. Uhrapher, hospital administrator James A. Mantz and A. W. Kette of the hospital construction board represented the city.

Next Step Recommended

The survey by the state hospital engineer was suggested by the state and federal representatives as the next step to be taken in determining the course of action to be taken here.

Mr. Mosher suggested that following the engineer's survey and recommendations, a public forum be held here to explain the results of the survey and recommend course of action.

State Health Director Dr. John D. Porterfield and Dr. A. J. Borosky, head of the hospital construction program in Ohio, would be present to explain the survey. Mr. Mosher indicated. He advised Mayor Dowler to request the services of the hospital engineer, adding that the state health department could authorize a survey to be made possibly within the next month.

Hospital Inspected

Visiting officials reviewed in detail the federal-state hospital construction program and with the city officials made a tour of the Marion hospital.

Several points were brought up by the officials in the course of the inspection in reference to any hospital construction undertaken here under the federal-state plan.

It was pointed out that additions authorized to hospitals must be made to an original fireproof building. Fireproof, they said, could be construed to mean fire resistant for a four to six-hour period. The Marion hospital is neither fireproof or fire resistant.

Possible Approval

They indicated a possibility that an addition might be approved if it were erected a specified distance from the original building and approved by the state fire marshal. This procedure would not be advocated however, it was said.

Possibility of erecting an addition on the Delaware avenue side of the hospital, now the front lawn, was discounted as being too near a cemetery. Under the program criterion, locations near cemeteries or industrial sections are to be avoided, officials pointed out.

Other facts brought out at the conference included an estimate

CHINA AID PROGRAM DEEMED TOO WEAK

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — President Truman's plan to give China a $570,000,000 economic shot in the arm raised a cry of too little and too late in congress today.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) said the civil strife in China has passed the point where "mere economic help" will be enough.

"We should furnish military supplies to enable the Nationalist government (of Chiang Kai-shek) to use the equipment we have already given them," the New Hampshire lawmaker told a reporter. He added:

"The expenditure of many billion dollars to halt the spread of Communist forces in Europe makes little sense if at the same time this government allows China to go to the Communists by default."

Bridges is chairman of the senate appropriations committee which will have a big say over how much money China is to get and how it is to be spent.

HARRY W. HABERMAN CLAIMED BY DEATH

Was One of City's Earliest Auto Dealers; Funeral Saturday.

Harry Walter Haberman, 63, died in his home at 445 Delaware avenue at 12:01 a. m. today. He had been ill more than a year.

During a long period of time Mr. Haberman was prominent in Marion's business and civic life. He operated one of the city's early automobile agencies, and as head of the Haberman Chevrolet Co., he brought the first car of that make into Marion as a dealer.

Born April 19, 1884, in Marion, he was a son of Christian Frederick Haberman and Cora Belle Clark Haberman, the father a native of Marion and the mother of Horicon, Wis. The father was an industrialist and hardware merchant here and was associated in the Haberman Chevrolet Co. with his sons, Harry W. and Fred Haberman Jr.

Entered Business in 1905

Harry W. Haberman attended preparatory school at Lawrenceville, N. J., then entered Princeton university at Princeton, N. J., leaving there in 1905 to enter the hardware business with his father and a brother.

April 11, 1906, he married Mabel Raffensperger in Marion. It was in 1914 that he started the Haberman Chevrolet Co., and he continued in the automobile business until 1928. He then was a dealer for a time in real estate, and in 1945 and 1946 was deputy registrar of motor vehicles for Marion county. He retired two years ago. In 1936 he was a candidate for mayor on the Democratic ticket. He was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal church, of Marion Lodge No. 79, F. and A. M., and of Marion Lodge No. 32, B.P.O. Elks.

SURPRISE RUN RAISES ALARM FOR TRUMAN

Chairman McGrath Virtually Calls on Wallace To End Campaign.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—The Democratic national committee raised in out and out distress signal today in the face of the Henry A. Wallace third party drive.

Chairman J. Howard McGrath said he hopes Wallace will "realize" he can accomplish nothing but "the defeat of the Democratic party's program of practical liberalism in 1948."

McGrath virtually appealed for abandonment of the Wallace campaign in a radio speech last night.

The address followed McGrath's frank admission the victory of a Wallace-backed candidate in Tuesday's New York congressional election is a big danger sign for the Democrats.

In the New York race, Leo Isaacson, running as an American Labor party candidate with Wallace's support, upset Democrat Karl Propper by a wide margin.

Wallace, on a speech-making tour of the south, gave no indication he plans to heed any call to "come home, all is forgiven."

Instead he announced at Miami Beach his supporters have obtained 464,000 signatures on a petition to put his name on the primary election ballot in California. Franklin D. Roosevelt carried the state by only about 476,000 votes in 1944.

South Flares Again

Meanwhile the row between national Democratic leaders and party members in the "Solid South" flared up again in Washington.

A group of southerners cancelled their reservations for the big $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson dinners tonight where prominent Democrats will rally around President Truman.

The issue was one which has brought a chorus of rebel yells from south of the Mason-Dixon line in recent weeks: The color line.

Mrs. Olin D. Johnston, wife of the South Carolina senator, said she decided not to attend the dinner "because I might be seated next to a Negro."

She said her party of 45 had dwindled to around 30 because some of the others felt the same way.

McGrath told reporters a dozen or more Negroes planned to attend the two dinners here. He said he could not order any segregation.

Mrs. Johnston called the flare-up "symbolic of party leaders' efforts to get minority votes through 'civil rights' proposals that led to threats of a southern bolt."

McGrath showed deep concern over the Wallace threat in his radio address. He said he thinks Wallace himself is "sincere" enough, but added:

"The fact that the loudest applause for Henry Wallace comes from Communist, Communist fellow travelers and reactionary Republicans causes me to believe that the bulk of Henry Wallace's support is coming from those whose basic allegiance is not to the American way of life.

Points To Support

"I hope that Henry Wallace will realize that unscrupulous forces who look to Moscow for inspiration and guidance see in his candidacy a chance to disrupt the normal activities of our two party system and bring about the chaos and confusion of splinter parties that has sent so many nations of Europe in to governmental collapse.

"I hope that Henry Wallace will repudiate the supporters of his cause whose only real hope is that they can defeat the Democratic party's program of practical liberalism in 1948 and turn the government over to reactionaries and isolationists."

Earlier in the day McGrath had said the Democratic party will make a "grave mistake if it does not learn a lesson" from the New York election. He added:

"It is evident that the fight against communism on the left and toryism on the right cannot be won unless every Democrat resolves to get out and vote."

Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, called the victory of the Wallace man in the Bronx Democratic stronghold good news for the Republicans.

It indicates, Stassen said at Spokane, Wash., that working men and women who used to vote for Roosevelt are leaving the Democratic party.

However, Senator Aiken (R-Vt) said the American Labor Party victory showed "dissatisfaction"

CHRIST in You, ✝ THE HOPE of Glory

WILL YE ALSO GO AWAY?

John 6:67: "Then said Jesus unto the twelve, Will ye also go away?"

THESE words of Jesus came from a heart that sorrowed for the failure of mankind to understand Him and for the hardness of their hearts. Jesus had taught truly of Himself but instead of believing Him many of those that had heretofore followed Him turned and walked away.

In this Lenten season Jesus is still teaching of Himself. After 1900 years men still walk away. Their hearts are selfish and small—they would leave, without so much as a backward glance, one who suffers still upon a cruel Roman cross.

Still Jesus seeks to draw men unto Himself. He is turning to us as He did unto His twelve disciples so long ago and saying, "Will ye also go away?" May we be drawn to Him by His love and say with Peter of old, "Lord, unto whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of Eternal Life."

ELLIS G. GUTHRIE,
First Church of The Brethren.

Lt. George J. Porter Promoted in Japan

Second Lieut. George J. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Porter of 130 South Grand avenue, has been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant while serving with the 753rd AAA Gun Battalion, one of the Battalions of 135th AAA Group, a news report from the Eighth Army in Yokohama, Honshi, Japan, states.

Lieutenant Porter started his military career on July 1, 1943, as a cadet at the United States Military Academy at West Point, receiving his commission as a second lieutenant upon graduation in 1946.

Lieutenant Porter was called overseas to Japan on June 4, 1947, where upon arrival he was assigned to the 753rd AAA Gun Battalion, the unit with which he is now serving as a battery officer.

The news report also says that congratulations were in order on Thursday Jan. 22, when Lieutenant Porter received a telegram from New York, stating that his wife had just given birth to a baby boy.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — TODAY we have a little short story revolving around Cain's sullen and timeless query:

"Am I my brother's keeper?"

The story came in a letter from a correspondent and he says it is true. He said he thought the yarn ought to be titled "gratitude."

The names of the characters have been changed, he says, but otherwise the facts are on the line:

Jim was something of a town character in the community where he lived just after the first World War. He was palsy walsy with a fellow called Red.

Hal Boyle

They were the kind who spent their days in the poolrooms and had a grudge against life because they thought they had been born behind the 8-ball. Both were small time offenders—the breed who clutter up police blotters and keep precinct captains busy getting them out of their troubles.

Finally they decided to pool their talents. Together they planned a theft in a nearby city. It wasn't a big job, but it was too big for them. They bungled it, and a citizen who surprised them was shot to death.

When they came to trial, blinking at their new notoriety, Red thought it all over and decided his own skin meant more to him than the traditional honor among thieves. He turned state's evidence and named Jim as the actual killer.

RED'S REWARD FOR squealing was a short term in the pen.

Jim's relatives chipped in and hired a good lawyer. But feeling was high in the community over the cold-blooded nature of the murder. The attorney was lucky to save Jim from the chair and get him a life sentence.

Long after Red was free Jim was still in the place where they make little ones out of big ones. His family stuck by him, particularly his brother Frank, and helped him in every way they could.

After a dozen years or more Frank began a campaign to get his brother a pardon.

The bitterness still hadn't died down. The district attorney who had sent Jim up fought the pardon and it was refused.

Year after year Frank kept on fighting to win his brother's freedom. Year after year the pardon board turned his request down.

But Frank's selfless effort finally began to win sympathy. A lawyer who had been a member of the parole board when it first considered the case consented to join in the appeal. He volunteered to handle the legal aspects without charge.

HE AND FRANK WENT before the board together and won the parole. After nearly twenty years behind bars Jim was free.

That was a number of years ago. Jim had learned something in prison. When he came out he went to work and today he is prosperous.

Frank, who stuck faithfully by him, is now a hopeless, cripple. And Jim?

"Jim hasn't visited his brother in two years," said the man who wrote me this tale. "Last week I met the lawyer who made the appeal which won him his liberty. He last saw Jim the day the pardon was granted.

"I forgot to tell that the victim of the killing was shot—through the back."

Meantime in other countries, not excluding the United States, Soviet agents and native adherents to the cult of the clenched fist have been giving demonstrations of what Communistic intensive organization can do. So, taking it the world around, the Bolshevists would seem to have done fairly well for themselves—on paper. Why, then, should they suddenly sue for peace?

IN ANSWERING THIS question we must remind ourselves again that the cold war wasn't of spontaneous origin. As this column has pointed out before, it is a part of Bolshevism's 30 year old program of world revolution for the establishment of Communism. It is a project which never will cease until either (1) Communism succeeds in overrunning the world, or (2) the Red advance is halted by a material barrier — like the Marshall plan, for example.

It is true that in Europe the Communist drive has slowed down to a crawl. However, this is due to the fact that Moscow already has taken over all the countries in which it had armed forces and thus is in complete control.

THE BOLSHEVIST satellite empire now includes everything up to the Stettin-Adriatic line, which is the frontier of demarcation between Red eastern Europe and democratic western Europe. The Russians can't employ their troops to the west of that line, and so must depend on the usual Communist strong-arm tactics to create situations out of which Soviet regimes may be established. It is to prevent the success of these tactics, of course, that the Marshall plan was devised.

But we have a far different picture in the orient. Russian fighting forces are widely scattered in strategic positions which must encourage Moscow to believe that the Soviet has a good chance of bringing Manchuria and northern China within its orbit of control, along with northern Korea. The Bolshevists have double encouragement in the fact that the Chinese communists, in their revolutionary efforts to establish themselves in northern China and Manchuria, are in effect fighting Russia's battle for her.

No, I don't believe Moscow is suing for peace. It might well be that the Soviet Union will reach a point where, for a change, it will be willing to make a concession here and there. However, such concessions won't be for altruistic reasons but to provide easement for Russia in some situation that is worrying her.

Communism is out to destroy "capitalism" and establish totalitarianism everywhere—period.

National Security Week

THE NATION is observing the 21st annual National Security week, which the Reserve Officers association sponsors from Lincoln's birthday to Washington's birthday.

The week has taken on a new significance in these postwar years. All agree that security is desirable and essential, but there is disagreement as to what constitutes security. Opinion polls indicate a substantial majority favors universal military training, yet a vocal minority, in this election year, has stymied the UMT plan in congress.

As its Security week message, the Reserve Officers association passes along this advice to every citizen: "Don't be a silent partner on this subject of national security. Write to your congressman and your senators. Keep your political leaders informed about your views. For we can be a truly strong nation only if individually we are strong citizens."

The Bronx Cheers Wallace

LEO ISACSON, Wallace-backed American Labor candidate in New York's 24th congressional district, was elected by a margin which surprised even the most optimistic Wallace supporters. He received 56 per cent of the votes, compared with 27 per cent for the district's previous A.L.P. congressional candidate.

With the support of disaffected Democrats and others who have rallied to the Wallace banner, Isacson conducted a strong anti-Truman campaign throughout the Bronx. He assailed the administration for its Palestine policy and called its racial equality program hypocritical.

Because of the district's large Jewish population, the vote is construed as a rebuff of the administration for its Palestine policy, but it also is an indication Wallace will be strong in Democratic urban districts throughout the North—stronger than expected. The Democrats have been laughing off the Wallace threat. Tuesday's vote was no laughing matter for them.

It Started in 1848

ONE HUNDRED years ago there were stirrings of unrest and intellectual ferment both here and in Europe. The rate of change in the world was accelerating. Bold new concepts were being expounded.

It was in that era, in 1848, that Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott issued their call for the first women's rights convention. That first meeting in Seneca Falls, N. Y., marked the start of a movement which will continue until the women of every civilized nation are enfranchised.

The spark of women's suffrage was fanned to flame by Susan B. Anthony and Lucy Stone who waged a long and often heartbreaking struggle against inertia and ridicule. They passed along the torch to Carrie Chapman Catt, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and others, whose efforts were crowned with success in 1920 when the 19th amendment was adopted. In passing, credit also should be given to Horace Greeley and other men who braved the scorn of their fellows to call for women's suffrage.

The predictions of politics purified by woman's refining influence haven't been realized, but more and more capable women are taking their places in the seats of government. In 27 years no miracles have been accomplished, but who can say that women are less fit to exercise the right of franchise than men? Or who would deny them their hard-won right?

Britain's Bitter Medicine

BRITAIN will be facing bankruptcy by midsummer, says the authoritative London Economist in an article titled "On the Rocks." The paper says the British have been living on illusions since 1945. Even with full Marshall plan aid, the outlook isn't encouraging.

Oddly enough, this gloomy prediction is made in the face of a wholesome rise in production. But production increases aren't the whole story in an economy which isn't self-sustaining.

"Britain," says The Economist, "has been living like an improvident family which, failing to make ends meet, first spends the accumulated capital of the past, then borrows from friends—and when their loans are exhausted begins to pawn the furniture."

A bankrupt family either resigns itself to a life of pauperism or it restores its solvency by vigorous action. For Britain such action could only mean longer hours and more production at the same pay, profit limitation, military budget reduction and even curtailment of funds allocated for schools, hospitals and housing. That is bitter medicine to prescribe, but it is the only specific that may prove effective.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Lack of Confidence in Government.

LORD LUKIITHOOW, chairman of the Midland bank, the largest private bank in England, has this to say:

"The first step towards solving a problem is to see it clearly, to size up its magnitude and to visualize its implications, and here a marked advance can be recorded; for hardly anyone now dissents from the view that the postwar program of reconstruction and improvement had outrun the nation's resources, human, material and financial. The seemingly almost miraculous achievements of war had led perhaps to over-estimation of the effort that could be sustained when the extremity of peril had been passed. Possibly, moreover, the assistance extended by the United States and Canada—essential to any plan of full economic recovery—had made the task appear less gigantic than in fact it was, having regard to the inroads made by the war upon our physical capacity for production and our external financial assets."

SOKOLSKY

Too Much Planning

In a word, the planners planned too much. The professors and the experts set targets for themselves, targets which may or may not be realities, targets which have not even a theoretical basis. They were mystical targets based on faith and hope but propounded by materialistic Socialists. They always look good in the blueprint stage, but when it came to balancing income and cost, the blueprints did not work.

It is not only war that interferes with roseate plans. It is everything: too much rain, too little rain; blizzards when coal and oil are lacking, psychological disturbances which produce lack of confidence. Almost anything can upset the best-laid plans of men of governments, of authors of learned dissertations.

One does not need to go to England to learn that truth. Here in this country, the commodity market goes sour; not distressingly sour, but bad enough to give the stock market and the politicians a fright. The smart boys had had it all worked out that they could keep all the balloons up high — wages, prices, farm prices, rents, taxes—everything that gives the appearance of good times—until, at least, after election day. Then would come another day and another story.

Rather Foggy

Well, it is not working out that way. It is not clear at this moment how it is working. The Marshall plan, the budget, the tax-bill all have to be studied again in view of the altered psychological attitude of the buying public. Buyers are waiting for lower prices.

There are expenditures which are essential and pressing; food when one is hungry; heat when one is cold; clothes when one is in tatters. Such expenditures must be made whatever the price as long as one has something to pay. Black market, gray market, any market is the same when these essentials press hard.

There are other expenditures which are postponable. For instance, a trip to Miami may be very important and delectable, if the cash is available and the hope for the future high. But it is possible to live, even to be happy, without a trip to Miami. So the hotelkeepers down there are bewailing their fate and Hialeah isn't what it used to be.

The same is true about refrigerators, radios, washing machines, $30 neckties, automobiles, all sorts of things. They are all postponable if the psychological situation develops that way. For good times are as much psychology as economics—and so are bad times.

Why are people not so sure these days? Has the backlog in construction been filled? Have all the 1939 and 1940 cars been replaced by new cars? Have we filled all the orders for new machinery? No. We have enough backlog to produce a wonderful prosperity.

Locating the Cause

But there is a loss of confidence in government, in the administration, in the personnel of administration. There is a rising resentment at the confusion inside the administraton. The country is sound; the backlog of orders is sufficient to keep us going if wages and prices and taxes—an inflation produced by government policy—would level at a reasonable point. But the country is weary of politicians who play ducks and drakes with foreign relations, with the national economies, with prices and subsidies. There is no hope in that; therefore there is no confidence.

Everything But
A Nickel for the Phone

A Tulsa lady won the Oklahoma purse-cramming championship last week when an unannounced survey revealed her to have 218 separate items in her handbag.

No wonder they can never find a token when they get on a streetcar.

Two hundred and eighteen separate items. . . . You could take inventory quicker in a mail order house.

They're going to have to change the old adage . . . to "Who steals my purse steals trash, a truckload of it."

Woman is that inexplicable creature who can get 218 separate items in a four-inch purse, yet can't park a 10-foot automobile in a 20-foot space.

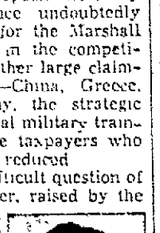
Why no man ever has more than 10 or 12 items in his pocket . . . unless maybe you catch one with a deck of cards.

Calls Millikin Plan Inflationary

By Walter Lippmann

THE amendment offered by Senator Eugene D. Millikin (R-Col.), would set aside three billions of this year's treasury surplus to be used in the fiscal year beginning in July to help finance the European Recovery Plan. This device undoubtedly makes it easier for the Marshall plan to survive in the competition among the other large claimants for funds—China, Greece, Turkey, Germany, the strategic air force, universal military training, and also the taxpayers who want their taxes reduced.

A large and difficult question of policy is, however, raised by the amendment. In principle the treasury surplus which is accumulating this year had already been set aside, and was to be used to reduce the government debt held by the banks. The object of reducing the debt was, of course, to make bank credit scarcer, and thus to moderate the inflation.



LIPPMANN

The total surplus this year is estimated at 7.5 billions by the treasury and 8.7 billions by the joint congressional committee. If these figures can be taken at face value, they would mean that even with the Millikin amendment, there would be a sizable surplus left for the deflationary measure of reducing the debt.

There are, however, high authorities in the field of monetary affairs who say that, owing to gold imports and to the funds used to support the government bond market, only a small part of the surplus is really available for genuine deflation. For the bank reserves created by the gold imports and by the bond purchases in the open market offset in considerable measure the bank reserves extinguished by paying off bonds held by the banks.

Inflationary

The Millikin amendment is, therefore, inflationary. If, in addition, congress reduces taxes, and if it does not clamp down on the activities of the many government corporations which are multiplying credit, the net effect of government policy will be not to apply the brakes but to step on the gas.

This can be justified as a matter of public policy only if we have already passed the peak of the inflation and are now entering upon a period of deflation and recession.

The truth of the matter is that at this time no one knows for sure what the real situation is. The consequences of the inflation are, of course, very obvious in the high prices of goods, in very full employment and in the heavy demand for critical materials. But because deflationary forces take time to produce their effects, they are often invisible in the earlier phases. That is why not only speculators but also monetary experts who must advise on matters of high fiscal policy find it so extremely difficult to judge a situation like the present one.

All one can be reasonably certain about is that at this time there are both inflationary and deflationary forces at work, that it is not clear which will prevail, and that, therefore, the sound policy is to be very flexible and alert—to see which way the cat is going to jump, and to be prepared to act accordingly.

In regard to taxes this would mean getting a bill ready to reduce taxes but not to reduce them unless there are signs that a depression, as distinct from a readjustment of prices, is setting in. And for the time being it would mean continuing not reversing, the policy of using the treasury surplus to reduce government debt.

Process In Motion

A little later on the indications may be clear enough to justify a modification of this austere fiscal policy. For the deflationary forces already in motion, though they are not spectacular, may gradually be producing powerful effects.

In the last few months there has been an increase in interest rates. There has been a reduction in bank deposits. There has been a break in bond prices. The crop prospects are very much better than had been anticipated. And there is throughout the world an accelerating exhaustion, not only in Europe but in the Western Hemisphere, of dollars for the purchase of American exports.

Beyond that there is the impending British financial crisis, an almost certain demonstration that the economic plans for a German revival are largely miscalculated and unworkable, not to speak of what may be expected in China and Japan.

It is now almost mathematically certain that about half of the Marshall plan—the half that is designed for Britain and Germany—can only mitigate the trouble, that it cannot produce recovery and restore solvency. That half is none the less important politically and humanly. But in the prudent and objective estimate of what probably lies ahead, we must brace ourselves against surprises and shocks coming from that great part of the world economy of which Britain is the strategic center.

The crisis could be of such dimensions that emergency measures, above and beyond the Marshall plan, may become imperative. This is not intended, of course, to be alarmist, and there is no reason for hysteria. In fact, hysteria would only make matters worse. But the portents are sufficient to demand on our part planning and preparation for many contingencies which have not yet been taken into account in our vastly overextended, infinitely complicated and thinly supported general policy.

Tribute To Vandenberg

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

THE senate opposition to the European recovery program, always confused but once extremely formidable, is formidable no longer. The junta of 20 Republican senators who joined to force compromise are confronted with a bill preserving every essential principle of ERP with the unanimous approval of the senate foreign relations committee. Division and demoralization have already overtaken the junta of 20, which is expected to dissolve at its next rally.

The best test of the opposition's low estate is the fact that those now thought likely to lead the active fight against ERP in the senate are Senators C. Wayland Brooks of Illinois and William E. Jenner of Indiana. Brooks and Jenner will of course be able to rally a fair number of more moderate and reasonable men for their grand vote-catching amendment, which will probably reduce the 12-month authorization for ERP from $5.3 billions to somewhere in the neighborhood of $4.5 billions. Although the vote may be close, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan is now believed able to defeat the enemy even on this difficult point.

What has been accomplished, it must be stated at once, is primarily due to the patience, wisdom and long-headedness of Senator Vandenberg, with an assist credited to Ambassador Lewis W. Douglas. Douglas himself, is the first to say, both in private and in public, that Senator Vandenberg deserves the principal credit. It is not much to say that the big Michigan senator has done what appeared to be impossible.

"Irritants" Removed

Initially, he was confronted with a situation made to order for the opposition, in which President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall had wholly failed to rouse the country or the congress to the urgency of the European problem. The ERP bill, as originally presented to the senate and house, was also full of scores of minor irritants to the congress. These could be played upon by the opposition until the little irritants became patches of general inflammation. Vandenberg has extricated himself and ERP from this grim position by a simple method. He removed all the irritants, one by one, and meanwhile he gave the opposition plenty of rope to hang itself with.

In this effort, he was importantly aided by Senators Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts as a member of the foreign relations committee, and William E. Knowland of California, as a moderate member of the opposition junta of 20. The major irritants in the ERP bill were obvious from the start. Vandenberg did not have to make any inquiries, for example, before he acted to make the bill's administrative provisions more palatable to the congress. But the minor irritants can also be very dangerous; and Knowland and Lodge reported these back daily to Vandenberg, so that they could be remedied by simple committee amendments. It may seem foolish. Yet a certain sort of lawmaker can actually be conciliated by such a sop as the statement now inserted in the ERP bill, that ERP is not intended to impair the economic stability of the United States.

Worked With Marshall Aide

On major problems Vandenberg worked closely with Douglas, as representing Secretary Marshall. A precedent was set when Douglas attended all the senate committee's drafting sessions. On Marshall's behalf. Douglas approved both the really big changes in the bill, as to the method of administration, and the shortening of the first ERP spending period to 12 months.

While objections were thus being removed and the groundwork for unanimity was thus being laid, Vandenberg also killed the opposition with kindness. He pressed ERP opponents throughout the country to come and testify. Few volunteered. Several, like the steelmaster, Ernest T. Weir, who had been carrying on active anti-ERP propaganda, actually refused to come forward to the witness stand.

As for the junta of 20, Vandenberg made jokes about the "rump caucus," and he urged them to be specific about their substitute for ERP. Everyone wanted "to do something," but no one could agree on what. Thus the 20 began to appear to be disunited. It seems probable that their final meeting will close with several of these senators ready to support Vandenberg's bill.

We Feel Better Now

The Bizonia issue, the Marshall plan, [illegible] deflation, inflation, ideological warfare, [illegible] exchanges of notes and beating of war drums in many places were not the things stirring the world, holding interest on all levels, stymieing demagogic politicians and even exasperating Pravda the past week.

The Rockefeller marriage put them all back on the second eleven. Wherever a politician popped off about the struggle between the rich and the poor, wherever a dictator sounded off in fierce denunciations of democracy, and in all places where the high-speed orators talk about the underprivileged and the exploited, tens of millions whispered "Sez you!" and "Where do ya get that stuff? Doncha read the papers?"

Things Are Better

By TRUMAN TWILL

The fellow never knew what hit him. He was that he was passing by and dropped in to say hello. "How're things?" he asked innocently. . . he found out . .

As to the income tax headache, it has gone away. A Sunday afternoon with last year's canceled checks and household account books and the dear old Department of Internal Revenue clutching its bloated midriff and hollering "Foul!" It won't have to pay back enough to make any critics of rugged individualism eat crow, but 30 bucks is 30 bucks, even if it took a handful of doctor bills to prove the withholding tax was withholding too much.

As to the weather, a cardinal whistled to his girl friend in the patch of lilac bushes one morning—not a wolf whistle but a full throated-out cheep-cheep. The important thing is that at least one cardinal survived the winter spell, with the assistance of someone's bird crums, suet and grit.

As to the automobile, it has shown the effects of rising temperatures. Four of its six cylinders are feeling dandy again—a gain of one since the big freeze. On a brief run, it was permitted to run in high gear, like an invalid proving he can walk without crutches. (After easing the accelerator on the new models, a man with a car that will run at all feels the same as he does after learning that his favorite movie actress has divorced another husband—the old model may need repairs but she's dependable.)

As to Virus XYZ, they have been beaten through dogged determination. X was plenty tough, but Y and Z thought they had long leases.

As to Florida, the people who went there to get sunshine and got nothing but rain have finally got sunshine, which was important because among them was the nicest old lady who, making her first trip after dreaming about it since 1890.

As to prices, hope has been restored in that the collective intelligence of the American people may be sufficient to get the cost of living alive down to a point where everybody can handle it without being sweated into the Depression II.

Everything else is looking better too—not necessarily is better but because everything had reached the point where it could get worse.

The income tax, weather, the auto, Virus XYZ, Florida, prices—they could be as bad as they were. The fellow who knows innocently how things were never knew what hit him—a ray of sunshine maybe.

BLAMES PROFESSION FOR DOCTOR SCARCITY

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Feb. 19 — A "closed union" operated by the medical profession is to blame for a serious shortage of doctors, says Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York.

The profession, he declared last night, controls the number of students entering medical schools, and, as a result, the number of physicians in the United States increased only from 120,000 in 1920 to 175,000 twenty years later.

The shortage, he said, costs the nation 1,000,000,000 days of labor each year due to sickness and accidents.

Bishop Oxnam spoke at a session of the annual convention of the National Association of Methodist Hospitals and Homes which opened here yesterday.

Dr. Karl P. Meister of Chicago, the board's executive secretary said "the government will take over health and welfare movements unless we stand our ground by doing a better job.

"If our church doesn't see here opportunity and obligation in these movements, others will. * * * We must serve, not only because it is our Christian duty, but because society needs what the church in its program has to offer.

Dr. Meister criticized expenditures for hospitals used exclusively for veterans.

"It would be far better," he said, "to follow the hospital construction program now in progress whereby hospitals for all will be available to the citizen level. * * *

"The veterans administration now has 180,000 beds and only 31,000 service-connected disability cases in them. It therefore seems unnecessary to proceed in this vast expansion and spend the taxpayers' money in this fashion."

CONGRESS READY TO START PASSING LAWS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—Congressional leaders decided today it's time to get busy passing laws.

Committees have been doing most of the work so far this year. And for the last week or so many members have been away making political speeches.

But house Republican Leader Halleck (Ind) and Speaker Martin (Mass) went into a huddle and came up with a lawmaking program they say will keep congress occupied well into the summer.

In fact, Halleck told newsmen the house may have to hold several Saturday sessions in the next few weeks. Saturday meetings of congress are rare.

The house plans to take up the budget cut matter next Wednesday. There wasn't an opposition vote in the senate, and no major fight is in prospect in the house.

The house planned to recess quickly today in tribute to the late Rep. Robinson (R-Ky) who died Tuesday.

The senate starts debate tomorrow on its own rent control bill, with a final vote set for next week.

Descendant of Pioneer Ohio Family Dies

EAST LIVERPOOL, Feb. 19—Mrs. Mary Vodrey Nease, 77, descendant of pioneer residents of this section, died Wednesday afternoon at her home here.

Born June 14, 1870, she was a daughter of Col. William H. Vodrey and Elizabeth Jackman Vodrey, both from families prominent in the development of this district.

Her grandfather, Jabez Vodrey, started in Pittsburgh in 1827 the first pottery west of the Allegheny mountains. Afterward he managed potteries in Louisville, Ky., and Troy, Ind., before coming to East Liverpool in 1847 where he and his descendants were potters until the old Vodrey pottery closed in 1928.

The Jackman family includes the many descendants of elder John Jackman of Fredericktown, a founder of the Disciples of Christ church in this region.

During World War I, Mrs. Nease served in France with the Y. M. C. A. and after the war was a member of the Women's Overseas League, Pittsburgh chapter.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 11 a. m. at Emmanuel Presbyterian church here.

Weddings

Of interest here is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Nugent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Nugent of Sioux City, Iowa, to Edgar H. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery L. Roberts of Radnor. The double ring ceremony was read Saturday, Feb. 7, in the Blessed Sacrament church in Sioux City. The altar was decorated with flowers, palms and lighted candles.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and a full skirt which extended into a train. Her fingertip length veil of bridal illusion was held in place with a Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid. Miss Kathleen Nugent was her sister's only attendant. She wore a gown of blue faille with a fitted bodice and a colonial skirt accented with a peplum. She carried a colonial bouquet of Talisman roses and yellow pompons and wore matching flowers in her hair.

Guy Roberts of Delaware, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushers were Paul Underriner and William J. Nugent.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Nugent chose a black crepe dress trimmed in blue with which she combined black accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Charles Collins of Marion, sister of the bridegroom, who, with her husband, attended the ceremony, was attired in a black crepe dress trimmed in black lace. Her flowers were a corsage of pink and white roses.

AUTO WORKERS IN LAW TEST

Grand Jury To Investigate Possible Violation of Taft-Hartley Law.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—The United Auto Workers (CIO) and its president, Walter Reuther, will be targets of a Taft-Hartley law investigation by a Detroit grand jury next month, it was learned today.

Justice department sources said the investigation would center on alleged violations of the Taft-Hartley act's ban on political activity by unions. Specifically, the federal grand jury will look in the UAW's support of Democrat Philip Storch in a special congressional election in Pennsylvania last November. The race was won by Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, a Republican.

Government prosecutors Jesse Climenko and Turner Smith, who will conduct the inquiry, declined any comment. But they were expected to seek the indictment of both UAW and Mr. Reuther for alleged violation of the politics ban.

Reuther Demands Test

Like CIO President Philip Murray, who was indicted on a similar charge last week, Mr. Reuther repeatedly has demanded that the government prosecute him so that the constitutionality of the ban would be tested.

Under the Taft-Hartley law, a labor union is forbidden to make any expenditure on behalf of any candidate in an election. Violating unions are subject to a $5,000 fine and their responsible officers to a maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and a year in prison.

During the Storch-Lichtenwalter campaign, the UAW flooded the Allentown, Pa., area with copies of its official newspaper "The Auto Worker." It carried a Reuther statement supporting Mr. Storch.

Mr. Murray's indictment last week was the first of its kind since the Taft-Hartley act went on the books last summer. The CIO president will be arraigned here tomorrow.

It was believed Mr. Murray would plead innocent and that his attorneys, Lee Pressman and Charles Margiotti, would immediately ask the court to rule the law unconstitutional.

Murray's Man Won

The grand jury accused Mr. Murray of violating the law by endorsing the successful candidacy of Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, (D) of Maryland, in the "The CIO News" in a special Maryland election last summer.

Arguments on the act's constitutionality in the Murray case are expected to take about 10 days. After that, Climenko and Smith will be free to look into the Reuther case and another reported violation by AFL unions in Connecticut.

AWOL 2 YEARS, BUT NEVER LEAVES BASE

By The United Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19 — The Navy put James LeRoy Telfer in drydock today while it investigated his story of being AWOL two years without leaving the Treasure Island naval base.

Telfer, 23, of Wichita, Kan., was listed as AWOL since Feb. 12, 1946, but he never really "went over the hill." He just changed his name and joined the baseball and bowling teams.

Telfer said he went AWOL because of dissatisfaction over a forthcoming assignment on the aircraft carrier Lexington. He changed his name to James LeRoy Johnson, but kept his rank of Watertender 3 c.

He said he had no trouble at all living on the island. He played baseball and bowled and also managed a Waves softball team.

Nobody recognized him because the island was full of sailors coming and going. The only place he didn't dare go were to his regular mess hall and his old barracks.

He earned money enough for chits at the ship's store by umpiring baseball games. He slept in abandoned barracks. The only time he got "liberty" was when he went on the roads with athletic teams because he had no pass for James LeRoy Johnson.

His only mistake was confiding his secret recently to friends. He told them the Navy was wonderful if you didn't have to bother with the rules.

It wasn't long before security officers heard that James LeRoy Johnson was the long-sought James LeRoy Telfer and he was put into the brig.

The Navy charged him with desertion.

Senate Probe of Vote Fraud Stirs to Life

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — A senate investigation of Democratic vote fraud charges in President Truman's own Missouri stamping grounds showed new signs of life today.

The charges arose in connection with a primary in the Fifth Missouri congressional district in 1946.

These were the developments today:

▶A judiciary subcommittee prepared to question the FBI man who handled the case. He now is a federal judgeship nominee.

▶Senator Kem predicted a new investigating committee will take a look at how the justice department dealt with alleged voting irregularities in Kansas City precincts. Kem claims the department "whitewashed" the case.

A grand jury indicted 72 persons, but 66 were freed last Jan. 28 after ballots held for evidence were stolen. The remaining six are awaiting trial.

NAZI GENERAL

List Was Anti-Hitler

The court found some mitigation for the field commanders, noting that List was anti-Hitler, that he protested the severity of some measures, and that his demand for more troops to insure a peaceful occupation were met only with refusal and the substitution of terror tactics by Keitel and Hitler.

The tribunal acquitted Gen. Hermann Foertsch, chief of the 12th Army staff, and Maj Gen Kurt Von Geitner, chief of staff in Serbia.

Of Foertsch, the judgment said: "His entire want of command authority, his attempts to rescind unlawful orders as well as a want of direct evidence placing the responsibility on him leads us to conclude that no overt act from which a criminal intent could be inferred has been established."

Von Geitner was more or less a Jackey in spite of his high rank, and he was innocent of responsibility, the court held.

HOSPITAL

made by Miss Prosel that a new 100-bed hospital for Marion would approximate $1,300,000. Also that it would be possible to obtain federal aid under the construction program for a new hospital here with a capacity up to 264 beds.

Not for Temporary Purposes

Officials stressed the fact that the state plan was designed as a long range program, rather than for the present or for temporary construction.

Mr. Mosher stated that in his opinion Marion was "on the right track" by considering what may best be done and securing all available information before jumping into any definite plan of action.

He indicated that the state will cooperate in construction program planning, eliminating the possibility of a program drawn up here being disapproved when submitted for state-federal approval for funds.

Not Likely This Year

Possibility of action on a Marion program by the May 16 deadline for federal aid for the 1947-48 fiscal year was discounted at the meeting. Not enough time to make a decision and to get plans approved and construction contracts let, was given as the reason.

was usually the vested interests.

"There is a basic standard of right for wages and for industrial security and this standard must be discovered and popularized. Then a moral standard for labor and management must be joined to the basic standard. This moral standard must be as firmly accepted by the world as the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount.

"Once this standard is achieved and written down, then labor can appeal to this standard as Americans appeal to their democratic principles. It will be a great day when organized labor goes on to express its sense of social obligation and pushes on until a standard of right is achieved.

"The churches of Christ, both Catholic and Protestant, will enter the contest and join hands with business and labor to work out a moral basis for labor disputes. The strike after all is an appeal to economic force and the side with the best treasury and dividends too often wins," Dr. Brown said.

TESTIFIES TO RAIL FACT FINDING BOARD

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 19—A railroad official testified before a Presidential fact finding board today that members of three operating unions seeking higher wages already are the highest paid employes in the railroad industry.

The testimony was prepared to be given by L. W. Horning, New York, vice president of the New York Central system. He was the first railroad witness summoned to testify before the board, which was named to avert a strike originally called for Feb. 1 by the unions representing some 125,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen.

The unions are asking a 30-per cent wage increase. They also are seeking 25 rule changes. Other operating unions representing conductors and trainmen, and the non-operating unions, recently accepted a 15½ cent hourly pay hike.

Engineers, firemen and switchmen occupy the "top position" in the industry, Horning said. He added "while this group constitutes only 9.28 per cent of all railroad employes, they receive 12.8 per cent of the total pay. They receive 36.4 per cent more than they would if all employes were paid equally.

"The (railroads) pay structure would be totally disrupted by granting engineers, firemen and switchmen an increase greater than that accepted by the conductors and trainmen."

Union representatives already have testified before the board. The unions involved are Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Sees Little Meaning

Senator Lucas (D-Ill), assistant Democratic leader in the senate, told reporters the result did not mean much.

"Emotions were high and the Communists got out their vote," Lucas said. "The Democrats and Republicans stayed home."

Senator Ives (R-NY) put it this way:

"I'm not surprised at the small Republican vote because they did not expect to win. I'm not surprised at the ALP vote because they got out 100 per cent. I am surprised at the Democratic vote because they were supposed to win."

Rep. Sadowski (D-Mich) said "the only thing that can save President Truman is to change our foreign policy and nominate Senator Pepper (D-Fla) for vice president.

Pepper's political views are such that he was mentioned for a while as a possible running mate for Wallace. He scotched those reports with a statement that he intends to remain a Democrat.

With President Truman as the main attraction, the Jefferson-Jackson celebration is expected to draw around 2,900 tonight.

It was divided into two sections—at the Statler and Mayflower hotels.

Mr. and Mrs Truman and daughter Margaret will dine at the Statler, where the President will make a short speech. Then the party will go to the Mayflower, where he will make his main address.

The second speech at 10 p. m., Eastern Standard time, will be carried by the radio chains and television.

NEW COLD WAVE ON ICY EASTERN TREK

By The Associated Press

Temperatures in some points in Montana fell as much as 60 degrees as the fast-moving mass of cold air and snow roared into the mountain region from northwestern Canada. Some stations in the northern plains reported the mercury dropped 30 degrees in an hour after the storm struck.

Free Ride For You— on the Freedom Train!

We had a real thrill in Our Town just the other day—when the Freedom Train stopped by!

You've heard about it, of course—an actual train that's touring the country to remind us again what true Democracy means. It carries such Americana as the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, and other immortal documents that guarantee every citizen his liberty.

A great idea! And from where I sit, we're all riding along with that Freedom Train—right now—by living in a country that protects our individual liberties—whether they apply to our right to vote, to choose our church, to speak our minds, or enjoy a glass of beer with friends.

Only thing is—we've got to prove ourselves worthy of the ride ... by guarding zealously against whatever forces of intolerance encroach upon our American concepts of live-and-let-live, in a free and strong Democracy!

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of new red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

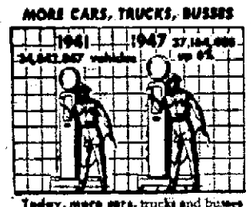
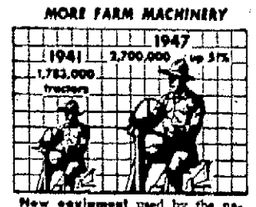
Oil production at record heights but your help still essential

7 REASONS WHY OIL CONSUMPTION IS NOW AT AN ALL-TIME HIGH!



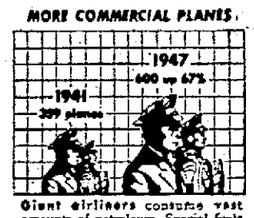
Today, more cars, trucks and busses are on the road than ever before. Huge quantities of fuel and lubricants are consumed daily.

Oil is clean and efficient heating. That's why more homes, schools and hospitals have installed oil burners. The average American oil heated home consumes approximately 1750 gallons per year.

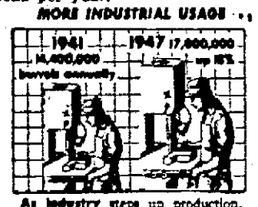


New equipment used by the nation's farmers demands large quantities of petroleum. In the mid-west alone, farm use of oil products has nearly doubled since 1941.

More and more trains are now motored by diesel engines . . . use petroleum products to provide power for the roads of steel.



Giant airliners consume vast amounts of petroleum. Special fuels and lubricants are required. A four-engine plane uses from 200 to 350 gallons every hour it's in the air.



As industry steps up production, demand for heavy fuel oil, industrial lubricants and dozens of other petroleum products grows bigger and bigger.

Tremendous quantities of petroleum are required by our Army and Navy. For without petroleum, planes cannot fly . . . jeeps cannot move . . . ships cannot sail.

HERE'S WHY

You Must Save Fuel Oil Now

Unless we all save as much fuel oil as possible, there may not be enough to keep our homes, schools and public buildings warm through the winter.

This is true even though more oil products are being produced and delivered today than ever before! Faced with the greatest demand in history, production is up to new record heights, and crude oil is being rushed to refineries and then to you. But there may not be enough to go around, unless every user saves as much as he can now.

The oil industry is spending over 4 billion dollars to meet your needs. New sources of supply are being uncovered . . . right now we are importing more oil than we are exporting . . . refinery and distribution facilities are being expanded . . . newer, faster methods of transportation are being provided.

But this expansion takes time. The oil industry, like so many others, faces difficulties in obtaining the necessary materials.

Save as much fuel oil, kerosene and gasoline as you can. If everyone cooperates there will be enough for all.

HERE'S HOW

To Save Money . . . Save Fuel Oil . . . Help Stretch the Supply

1. Keep temperature at moderate level—not more than 68 degrees. Turn thermostat to 60 or below at night.
2. Keep doors, windows closed, shades drawn. Close off unused rooms.
3. Install storm windows and insulation to keep heat in . . . cold out.
4. Be sure to have your heating system checked to be sure you're getting the most efficient use of your fuel oil.

If everyone cooperates, the current "pinch" need not last too long. As soon as it is humanly possible, there'll be enough oil for all your needs. And the greater your cooperation the sooner that day will be.

If everyone saves . . . there will be enough for all.

Two Auto Accidents Reported to Police

Police records show that two automobile accidents occurring Tuesday in the Marion area resulted in considerable damage to a truck and a car.

The right side of a food truck driven by F. M. Teets of 516 Bartram avenue was smashed at 4:10 p. m. at the intersection of Mark street and Ballentine avenue when a car driven by Ronald E. Parker of near Marion and the truck collided. The Parker car was damaged in front.

At 7:15 a. m., Gerald W. McDonnell of Hotel Marion, backing his car out of the Danner garage on Holmes Place, ran into a parked car on the south side of the street.

BOY, 8, IS HERO IN GAS BLAST. By steering the family car more than six miles over a sagebrush trail while sitting on the lap of his injured father, Roy Lee Grindrod, 8, of Burley, Idaho, saved the sight of his father and two others, blinded in a gas well explosion. Doctors say the boy's act in getting the three to aid saved them from probable blindness. Roy is seen with his father in the hospital. (International Photo)

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

A millionaire has startled art circles by claiming he was not quite sober when he paid $31,500 for a painting . . . Now several other art patrons are examining their pictures and their diaries.

* * *

There was a time when a man's wife would phone down to the corner tavern when he was out late . . . . Now she'll have to check the art galleries too.

* * *

And it seems obvious that the fellow who drew "The Face" on the Bar Room Floor" was ahead of his time . . . Today he could open a studio and make real money.

* * *

But I say if a man is to be questioned about his sobriety when he buys a painting the artist should be given the balloon test too . . . He's the fellow who painted it.

* * *

The old gallery in Boston has taken "modern" out of its name . . . Evidently the saturation point in people who look like trees and trees that look like hall racks has been reached.

* * *

All I know about art is that if a dog doesn't sniff . . . That isn't meat on the plate.

$10,000 Bequest Made To Hospital District

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY — A bequest of $10,000 to the joint township hospital district of central Wyandot county was one of the provisions of the will, probated here, of the late Mrs. Lillian M. Burns of nearby Kirby. Mrs. Burns was the widow of Dr. E. E. Burns, for many years a well known Kirby physician.

No designation as to the particular use of the money was made in the will. It is expected the board of governors of the hospital district including Crane, Pitt, Mifflin and Salem townships will use the $10,000 to aid in the construction of the hospital building on the recently acquired site just north of Upper Sandusky. A survey of the grounds is now being made and construction will start in the early spring.

GEN. HODGES SENDS PROTEST TO REDS

By The Associated Press

SEOUL, Feb. 19—Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge today told Russia the manhandling of two American officers in Soviet-occupied north Korea was "an insult to the United States Army."

Hodge is commander of the U. S. occupation zone in south Korea.

He wrote Lt. Gen. G. F. Korotkov, the Russian commander, that he held Korotkov responsible for the incident at Pyongyang Feb. 9.

Major Darrell G. Cotsello and Richard C. Biggs were pushed around by Koreans and a female was snatched from Cotsello. They were trying to watch a parade of the Russian-armed north Korean army.

Hodge told Korotkov in a formal note of protest:

"The incidents were observed by various Soviet Army officers and enlisted personnel who took no action, although they know that you are responsible for the protection of my liaison officers from all manner of rowdyism. I insist that you immediately make an investigation of the conduct of Korean and Soviet army personnel involved and punish those who are guilty."

Bucyrus Businessmen Feel Market Slump

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Not only food markets but dry goods and ready-to-wear merchants and even the town's barber trade are feeling the market slump, a survey of local business establishments disclosed here.

One merchant declared that trade had fallen of 25 per cent during February after an unusually brisk January business. Another said his volume of business was down 50 per cent.

In an effort to move merchandise merchants have effected reductions up to 10 per cent in such items as lard, butter and soap powders.

Wholesalers serving Bucyrus area report their orders at almost a standstill as merchants await price stabilization before supplementing present stocks.

"High living costs have eaten into the buyers' reserves and they just don't have the money," one merchant summed up the situation.

The meeting is ...led for 7:30 o'clock and ...e held in rooms on the sec...oor of the Marion Clinic ...ng at 375 South Main street. ...e have been turned over to ...hapter by Dr. C. G. ...e course covers 24 hours of ...tion and will be conducted ...s T. H. Creager, R. N. and ...uthorized Red Cross in...structor. Designed to prepare lay people in giving better care to the sick in their own homes and to prevent illness insofar as possible by maintaining healthful living conditions in the home, the course offers four units. They are: health and happiness in home life; how the community protects the health of the home and family; how to take care of mother and baby and what to do when illness invades the home.

In presenting the course Mrs. Knapp points out that public health leaders and physicians recognize the need for one person in every family to know how to care for illness in the home. This recognition grows out of the realization that family health is the foundation of community health.

The class is open to all adults and is free. Enrollments will be taken at the Red Cross office at 183 West Center street and may be made by calling at the office or telephoning 2431 or by calling Mrs. Knapp at 4236. Enrollments also will be taken at the classroom next Monday night. Mrs. J. H. Harmon, a member of the home nursing committee is in charge of details for organizing the class.

Merkel Proposes Cut In Tax on Investors

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19—Relief from high taxes should be granted investors in industry, in the opinion of Ohio's securities chief.

James F. Merkel, chief of the Ohio division of securities, said at the 48th annual meeting of the Cleveland Stock Exchange present taxes on equity securities—those which involve a share in ownership of an enterprise—are too high.

Investors who furnish basic capital needs do not receive a satisfactory return, said Merkel, nor are corporate net earnings satisfactory.

The securities chief expects to appear before the senate finance committee to urge reduction of the tax burden on investors.

CLEAR PRIZE DOGS OF SHEEP KILLING

By The Associated Press

ASHLAND, O., Feb. 19—The question of whether three prize boxer dogs killed any sheep last July and who is going to pay for the sheep may get another spin in the wheels of justice.

Common Pleas Judge F. B. Savord of Erie county, sitting by assignment, cleared the dogs of the charge yesterday but Prosecutor C. W. Chorpening announced he would seek a new trial.

It started this way: The Lake county trustees, who had paid a $75 claim on sheep killed by dogs, sought a court order for the destruction of the three boxers owned by Todd Chessrown, an Ashland county farmer.

Common Pleas Judge H. E. Culbertson disqualified himself and Judge Savord took over. At the trial last month Louis Brumfield, Richland county author, testified Boxers were a friendly breed and because of the construction of their mouths, they couldn't kill sheep.

Judge Savord decided during the trial that he lacked authority to order the dogs killed. This left the question of reimbursing the township trustees for the $75 claim.

In a journal entry Judge Savord cleared the dogs. However, Chorpening said tests made by Prof. L. A. Kaufman of the Ohio State university college of agriculture showed samples of wool taken from the dogs' mouths were not similar to those of a sheepskin rug. Chorpening contends the dogs chewed the rug at his home.

JOSEPH C. GREW

The Memoirs of Cordell Hull

First Hint of Jap Pearl Harbor Plan Came Jan. 27, 1941

By CORDELL HULL

Copyright, 1948, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.

INSTALLMENT XXII

AMBASSADOR GREW cabled me from Tokyo on Jan. 27, 1941 that the Peruvian envoy there had told him he had heard from many quarters, including a Japanese one, "that a surprise mass-attack on Pearl Harbor was planned by the Japanese military forces in case of 'trouble' between Japan and the United States, that the attack would involve the use of all the Japanese military facilities." The Peruvian said to Grew he was prompted to pass this on because it had come to him from many sources, although the plan seemed fantastic. On the following day we communicated the contents of the cable to the war and navy department.

It was at about this time and in these circumstances that two Catholic priests, Bishop James Edward Walsh, superior general of the Catholic Foreign Missionary Society, at Maryknoll, New York, and Father Drought, returned to the United States from Japan. They reported that they had talked to many highly-placed Japanese including Matsuoka; they realized that relations between the two countries were strained and that worse might follow, and they had a laudable desire to do whatever they could as private citizens to avert the prospect of war.

THEY CONTACTED on the one hand Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, one of the most prominent Catholics in the administration, and on the other several members of the Japanese embassy.

The President and I agreed that Bishop Walsh and Father Drought, along with Postmaster General Walker, could continue their contacts with the Japanese embassy on a purely private basis and seek to reduce to writing what the Japanese had in mind. We felt, however, that we ourselves could not take any action until the new Japanese ambassador, Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, arrived in Washington.

Ambassador Nomura paid his first call on me on Feb. 12. He was tall, robust, in fine health, with an open face, differing considerably in physique from the average Japanese. He spoke a certain, sometimes an uncertain, amount of English. His outstanding characteristic was solemnity, but he was much given to a mirthless chuckle and to bowing. I credit Nomura with having been honestly sincere in trying to avoid war between his country and mine.

I held my first extended conversation with Nomura on March 8 in my apartment at the Carlton hotel. This was the first of some 10 or 50 conversations between us until Pearl Harbor. They were invariably at night, in the study of my apartment, first at the Carlton and then at the Wardman Park hotel. Nomura preferred to come to my apartment rather than to the state department so as to keep our conversations as free as possible from publicity.

DURING THE COURSE of these discussions many pleasant words were spoken pointblank, but our voices never rose from the level of a conversational tone. Nomura was very gentlemanly. As between us personally, relations were amicable.

Our first several conversations were limited to ourselves. Later they embraced my advisers and Nomura's.

Joseph W. Ballantine, an outstanding Japanese expert of the department, used to appear at my apartment at 7:45 p. m., bring whatever documents were necessary, and take them out with me. Nomura and his advisers came in shortly before 8:30 and the conversations usually went on until 10 o'clock, sometimes 10:30. Ballantine then returned to the state department to prepare a memorandum of the conversation.

The formal conversations conducted by Bishop Walsh, Father Drought and Postmaster General Walker with Japanese representatives, including Ambassador Nomura, reached a head on April 9. On that day I received from them a draft proposal on which the participants had agreed. During the next few days I went over this carefully with the experts on Far Eastern affairs of the state department.

AS WE STUDIED the proposal, our disappointment was keen. It was much less encouraging than we had been led to believe it would be, and most of its provisions were all that the ardent Japanese imperialists would want.

After our Far Eastern experts and I completed our examination of the proposals sent me through Postmaster General Walker, I concluded that however objectionable some of the points might be there were others that could be accepted or they stood and still others that could be agreed

Legion Club To Mark Its First Anniversary

A social gathering, celebrating the first anniversary of the founding of Club 162 of the American Legion, will be held Saturday night in the clubroom at 123 East Center street. All veterans and their wives are invited to attend the celebration. Entertainment will be furnished and there will be a lunch served.

The club has met a long-felt need for veterans and has been used to an advantage not only by members of Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, but by veterans' groups for committee meetings and other gatherings where convenient meeting places are needed.

Future Farmers Chapter Plans Community Fair

Plans are being made by the Future Farmers of America chapter and the home economics department of the Harpster-Little Sandusky school for the annual Community fair to be sponsored by the two groups Thursday and Friday, March 4 and 5. It was announced that farm and home exhibits are open to any persons in the Harpster-Little Sandusky and Wyandot school districts, and there are no entry fees. New trophies are to be given to leading exhibitors, and there will be cash awards on all exhibits. The fair is financed by door admissions and the sale of pictorial advertising to more than 70 business firms located in Harpster and the surrounding towns and communities, it was explained.

D.U.V. INITIATION HELD

Initiation was held at a meeting of Harriet Beecher Stowe Tent No. 48, Daughters of Union Veterans, at the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Teresa Arnold, who was a guest at a meeting of Lady Sheriden Tent No. 50 of Cardington Monday night, reported on her visit.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

The Exact Value of Gargles

When doctors want to know something, they use exact methods to find out.

That is why, for instance, they can be so annoyingly sure about it when they tell you that a gargle—even a highly recommended one—isn't in itself going to cure your sore throat although it may help relieve some symptoms. The doctor learned, by actual experiment, that the gargle just cannot reach the part of your throat which needs the healing most.

Here's how. A dye, which has the property of staining mucous membrane, has been added to gargles which were then used by human guinea pigs. Subsequent examination showed that the type—and hence the gargle—did not get very far back of the molar teeth and never came in contact with the tonsil at all.

More recently the same sort of test was applied to chewing gums medicated with such drugs as penicillin and the sulfonamides. They revealed that the dye stained the tongue and gum margins and lining membrane of the teeth but that the tonsils and back part of the throat were not stained by the dye when the patient remained in an upright position.

However, according to Dr. Noah D. Fabricant, when a patient chewed and swallowed while lying down, or had head lower than his shoulder, the tonsils and back part of the throat usually were stained. Hence preparations incorporated in a chewing gum can be used with some success by those with throat or tonsil infections if chewing is carried out while lying down.

Powders of the sulfonamide drugs have also been recommended for the treatment of throat infections. Breathed in, they do reach the throat and tonsil tissue. Even so, they do not have any great effect because the mucous membrane of the throat is constantly warmed by moisture, hence the powder does not remain in contact with the diseased tissues long enough to cure.

A number of studies have been made of penicillin and the sulfonamides given in the usual ways—by mouth or injection—as a treatment for throat conditions. It would appear that while this method may bring about some improvement of the symptoms, the germs causing the infection are not permanently eliminated or relapses occur. However, in many cases such treatment does reduce the severity, as well as the duration, of the sickness.

Some people, of course, are sensitive to these various preparations and often their use may only mask or hide the symptoms and complicate the condition.

When a sore throat infection occurs a careful study should be made by a physician as to the decide when the penicillin and sulfonamide drugs should be used as well as the form in which they should be employed.

Questions and Answers

T. V. I have a friend who is quite aged. She says she was told by her doctor that they are due to the muscles contracting at the back of the head. Massage has no effect. What could be done for a condition of this type?

Answer. It is not clear just what disorder is present. A thorough study, to determine the exact nature of the condition would be advisable. It may be that there is some inflammation of the muscles in the neck which produce the pain.

The type of treatment to be employed would depend upon the cause of the condition.

The Iron Age said increases in extra charges will cost structural fabricators around $15,000,000 a year, while another $12,000,000 must be borne from forging and rerolling billets, blooms and slabs.

Operations this week continued unchanged at 93 per cent of rated capacity, it reported.

Declines averaging 75 cents a ton for No. 1 heavy melting scrap in the Chicago area and 50 cents in Philadelphia depressed the Iron Age scrap composite to $40.15 a gross ton. This was a drop of 42 cents from the preceding week.

A Lenten Snack Supper

CHEESE AND DOUGHNUTS . . . Meatless day fare.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Judging from queries many homemakers want suggestions for quick - to - prepare, economical snack suppers—and this time of year it's good to have some on tap that are suitable for Lent.

One of my sisters gave a fish-snack supper recently, patterned after a smorgasbord table, that was perfectly delicious and easy to put together. But its chief recommendation is that it's elastic and will fit practically any budget. It can be as economical or as lavish as you like, depending on the number and kind of snacks selected—but either way it's popular, especially with men.

The one hot dish served was creamed finnan haddie, but another fish could be chosen, depending on what is available, liked and economical. If a white-meated fish other than finnan haddie is used the cream sauce should be well-seasoned. Worcestershire sauce does wonders here, but add it sparingly—just a quarter of a teaspoon will often do the trick. Parsley, if it is in the refrigerator, is a big help too.

Along with the hot dish there was a cold potato salad with anchovies and a plate of stuffed eggs. Then there were side dishes of good-tasting fish snacks: sardines, smoked salmon, herring fillets in a delicious sauce, and to go with them pickled beets, olives, radishes, celery. And of course there was lots of thin rye bread and butter. Other canned fish such as tuna and shrimp could have been used and another salad of a seasonal and reasonably-priced vegetable, such as cabbage, would have been a penny-saving choice. Inexpensive varieties of cheese can also pinch-hit.

A cheese snack with a most interesting flavor was served at one of the best parties I've been to this winter. I went home with the recipe and here it is:

Savory Cheese Spread

½ 4-ounce package Liederkranz cheese, 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, ½ teaspoon celery salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, chopped chives or onion powder, to taste, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Leave both the Liederkranz and the cream cheese at room temperature to soften. Then put them in a small bowl and blend them well. Add celery salt, paprika, chopped chives or onion powder to taste and Worcestershire sauce and mix thoroughly. Makes about 1 cup.

This can be put in an attractive small bowl on a tray and surrounded by lots of crisp crackers so that guests can spread their own.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Great Ships Some Day May Sail Through Canal Tunnel

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—The largest battleship or ocean liner may sail some day through a tunnel under the continental divide across the Central American isthmus.

Or it may travel from the Atlantic to the Pacific in a vast open ditch without locks, riding at sea level on a man-made salt water river with banks rising as high as 600 feet.

Engineers with a mandate from Congress to study all possible route for a new canal across the isthmus have given some figuring on a sea-level way which would lift a vessel out of one ocean, carry it overland by rail and set it down in the other one.

Congress received the report recently after two years of exhaustive preparation under the direction of the governor of the Panama Canal, J. C. Mehaffey. Almost $5,000,000 was spent on the work, and some of the best military and engineering brains in the nation took part. Here are some of its findings:

▶The location of the present canal in Panama is the most economical and generally satisfactory place to build a new one.

▶Only a sea-level canal could be made secure against sabotage or aerial attack either with conventional or atomic weapons.

▶Nicaragua would be the most desirable location except Panama for a new lock canal.

▶Colombia would offer the most feasible location outside of Panama for a sea-level canal.

Congress has long recognized the need for a new canal across the isthmus. Increased volumes of shipping, larger vessels and the coming of aerial and atomic warfare have outmoded the great Panama waterway.

Locks Too Small

Its locks are not large enough to hold our biggest carriers, or the Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth. After 1960 it is estimated traffic will become heavier than the canal can accommodate.

In 1910 work was begun on new locks to parallel the present one. Because of the war, work was abandoned in 1942, after $75,250,000 had been spent and most of the excavations completed. Governor Mehaffey notes that the excavations could be used for a sea-level canal, which would follow the general line of the present waterway.

The sea-level waterway would be "one of the largest engineering projects ever contemplated." Its channel would be 60 feet below sea level and would be 600 feet wide at a 40-foot depth. The deepest cut through the continental divide would be 600 feet below the surrounding hills.

Three times as much earth would be excavated as for the present canal—1,068,670,000 cubic yards.

Dredgers would work in water deeper than anyone ever dredged before—making a cut 100 feet deep along the bottom of Gatun lake in water 145 feet deep. The lake would have to be kept full throughout the 10-year construction period in order to maintain operations in the present canal.

Army of Workers Needed

At the peak of construction, 82,000 civilians would be added to the present population of 35,000 in the canal zone. Two new permanent towns would have to be built, besides a temporary construction town.

Large and complex as this project is, however, it is small and simple compared to some of the alternatives considered.

The investigators studied 30 possible routes grouped in eight general locations from Mexico to Colombia.

They were looking for places where distances across the isthmus were short; where there were low gaps in the ridge of mountains and hills that runs the entire length of the isthmus; where floods could be controlled and where good harbors are available at the ocean entrances.

For a lock-type canal, they had to keep in mind the need for an ample supply of inland water to fill a summit lake for lockage and navigation.

Shorter trade routes between the east and west coast of North America would be provided by a canal in Mexico or Nicaragua. The experts concluded, however, that only lock canals could be built in either of those countries. The cost for any sea-level canals there would be prohibitive because the routes would have to be more than three times the length of the present canal, which is 51 miles.

The most economical route for a lock canal outside of Panama, the report said, would be Nicaragua, where vessels could cross Lake Nicaragua and Lake Managua. But it would cost $2,566,000,000, compared to $2,308,000,000 for a new sea canal in Panama. Since it would be so much longer, moreover, it would be still more difficult to defend. The shorter trade route through Nicaragua would save commerce a shipping $15,436,000 a year; but the U. S. government would have to spend $46,455,000 a year more to operate it than it does the Panama Canal.

The Mexican route, from the Gulf of Campeche to the Gulf of Tehuantepec would be 165 miles long. The gap where it would cross the divide is 812 feet above sea level, requiring 10 sets of locks, compared to three in the present canal.

A lock canal across Mexico would cost $13,280,000,000. For it 3,360,000,000 cubic yards of soil would have to be excavated.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

M[illegible] response was quick [illegible]ential.

[illegible]ise, sir," he said, and [illegible] my father into the li-

[illegible] to the woodshed," [illegible]erwood murmured to [illegible] twinkle in his eyes. [illegible]m a warning glance, [illegible]rs of Georges are es-[illegible]n. Indeed, I saw him [illegible] the next instant, and puzzled query.

"Did you say the woodshed?" he asked.

"I never remember what I say a split second afterward," the big man said blandly. "You'll have to ask the 'Lady Fair,' the theme song of my broadcast."

Georges turned his still puzzled eyes to me.

"I remember now, that is what you always call Aunt Madge," he said, using the name I once had given him permission to use. "Will you tell me what he said, Aunt Madge?"

"I did not hear what he said," I fibbed shamelessly, for I did not wish Georges ferreting along the line of what my father and Mr. "K" were discussing. My father had not seen fit to acquaint either Georges, or fascinating Carlotta Carroll that the other was in the world, and I did not wish to be a party to Georges acquiring that knowledge.

Then I looked at Harry Underwood with what I hope looked like reproach in my eyes.

"If you wouldn't 'mumble your words'," I quoted crossly, "I could understand what you are saying."

"It's not my fault your ears are not what they were sixty years ago," he retorted. "And I want you to know Woman, that my diction has been applauded from—

"From Harlem to the Battery," Dicky struck in, and I realized that he was also playing the game of keeping Georges confused.

"Don't pay any attention to those two, old chap," Dicky admonished the fugitive king in the friendliest fashion, although I knew his foot tingled with the "repressed desire" to kick the royal playboy soundly for his presumption in writing to Mary at the sanitarium, and trying to elicit a reply from her. "They haven't had a sane idea between them in a century. If you desire information, come to the balanced wheels of both marital partnerships, Lillian, and myself."

There the absurd colloquy abruptly ended, for my father came back into the room with Mr. "K," with an air of urgency about him.

"I am sorry to have delayed your departure, my daughter," my father said, "for I wish you to return as soon as possible after you shall arrive at the farmhouse. Of course you must wait long enough for you 'K,' George, and the men to have one of Katie's good meals, but that is all. 'K,' I am counting on you to see that Gus makes up a good bed for her in the armored car for both trips. She will be able to get some sleep that way, for I cannot have her wait for a nap out there. I want the car back here before daylight and I, myself will escort her to the Landfield."

"I don't think Gus will need any prodding," the FBI man said with a smile. "He always is most solicitous about Mrs. Graham's comfort."

"He should be," my father said shortly, "and now, 'K,' will you get in touch with Joe? Where is he, by the way?"

"In the garage," Mr. "K" replied.

"Who is with him?" my father asked next, although I was sure he knew the answer, and was simply checking on it, as is his meticulous custom.

"Gus, and two guards," the FBI man said.

"Good," my father commented. "You won't need the extra man going out, for you, 'K' will be in the car. But you won't be on the return trip, for you'll be staying out there with Georges, and I shall feel safer with an extra man in the car."

"I also, shall be in the car going out," Georges struck in with heightened color, and I knew that his ego had been affronted by my father's omission of his name from my escort on the trip to the farmhouse.

THE Harding Booster club's next major project will be helping Coach Kenny Somerlot with his plan to build an outdoor basketball court at the stadium so that boys can work on the game during the summer and can start regular practice with the start of school in the fall. . . . Currently, the club is running a campaign to get new members. A buck will put you in the club and earn you the gratitude of Marion's athletes and sports fans.

THE INTRAMURAL athletes at Harding are already set with a plan to snag a little gold for the proposed outdoor court . . . They will hold their home-room basketball tournament playoffs at the Armory Feb. 25 and use the proceeds as a start on the project.

JOHN (STUBBY) BRICKLES, Cleveland Browns' backfield coach, revealed at the Booster club meeting last night that he met Head Coach Paul Brown on a college baseball diamond. . . . Stubby was playing shortstop when Brown slid into him, spikes flying. When they got up fists joined spikes, but a couple of teammates intervened and the boys cooled off. . . . After the game, Brown invited Stubby to his fraternity house for dinner, and Brickles returned the favor the next time their teams met on the diamond. A couple of years later they met again as coaches of enemy teams. . . . Brown was at Massillon and Brickles at New Philadelphia in the early 30's.

AFTER BROWN'S Massillon juggernaught rolled over his New Philly team a time or two, Brickles decided he couldn't beat Brown and had better join him. . . . They tied up at Cleveland three years ago when the Browns were first organized after Brickles had gone to Huntington, W. Va., High school and Kentucky U. and Brown to Ohio State.

DICK McANICH and Faydell Welch, former Harding athletes now working in Cleveland, accompanied John Brickles to Marion for the Booster club meeting. . . . McAnich, now in the steel business, was a grid luminary at Harding and Duke university. . . . Welch is in the insurance business in Cleveland.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP for the second-round of the Y.M.C.A. Thursday basketball league schedule will be decided tonight and it could end in a three-way tie. . . . Stone's Grill is in the lead with four wins and no losses, but if Martel Elevator can knock them off tonight, they'll end up in a tie. . . . And if Universal Cooler, running neck and neck with Martel with three wins and one loss, can take Commercial Steel, that will make it a three-way tie. . . . If the league title ends in a deadlock, there will be a playoff for the championship, Bob Minard, Y athletic director, said.

THE FEVER for an outdoor basketball court has caught St. Mary. . . . Coach Gene Fetter said the Irish plan to erect a couple of baskets on the asphalt yard next to the church and paint out a court. . . . Fetter is promoting a one-man drive for better sports and physical education in Marion. "Make Marion a sports center," is his motto.

Harding Boosters Hear Brown Coach, See Movies of Champs

The Harding Boosters club saw the official movies of the highlights of the 1947 Cleveland Browns professional football action at Central Junior High school last night, and heard an interesting talk by John (Stubb) Brickles, backfield coach of the All-America Football Conference champion Browns.

The meeting marked the end of the first year of activity of the Booster club, and the launching of the second year under the guidance of new officers, President John Peacock, Vice President Robert LaMarche, and Secretary-Treasurer Carl Keller.

John Pickerel, retiring president, thanked the Boosters for their help in financing the erection of the stands at the stadium and introduced Brickles, who told some things that make the Browns football champions.

Gives Credit to Brown

Brickles gives much of the credit for the success of the Browns to Coach Paul Brown and his organization ability.

The three assets Brown possesses as a coach that Brickles deems important are the desire to win, the ability to get the cooperation of players and assistant coaches, and his quick mind.

"Brown has to win," Brickles said. "He lives to win. That's why he'd be just as successful in business as he is as a football coach.

"He gets the loyalty of his staff and he has one of the quickest minds in the business when his team is on the field. When we spot a weakness in the opposing team from our position up in the box, nine times out of ten he's already sent in a man to take advantage of it before we can phone down."

Scrimmage 3 Times

The Browns scrimmage but about three times a year, Brickles said. Most of their time is spent in perfecting offensive and defensive plays. The Browns have a coach for each position on the line and two backfield coaches. They view pictures of the last week's game, or the movies of the last year's play with the team they'll face the next Sunday, regularly every week and work to perfect flaws in blocking assignments spotted from the pictures.

Their perfectionism pays off. The Browns have been champs of the A.A.F.C. both years it has been in existence.

The movies shown at the meeting last night, and at an afternoon session, introduced the Brown players and gave some of the highlight plays of the season.

Wrestles Bill Murray Tonite

One of the best programs in months is signed for the Marion wrestling fans tonight at the armory. It will be the kind of program that local fans like best. For one of the ninety minute matches and one that should be plenty rough. Paul Orth will meet a grappler just as rough as he is in the person of Red Lyons. Last week Red got too interested in his roughness and got disqualified but tonight that won't be necessary as Orth is just as rough as they come and the winner is promised a match with the well known Farmer Jones.

The other main event might steal the show for it brings back that popular Southerner, Billy Rayburn and he is matched with the fast moving Canadian, Bill Murray. Both these men are well liked and the fans know what to expect when they get going.

The ten minute prelim at 8:30 have two brothers, Jack and Don Wilson wrestling for the honor of the Wilson family. Call 2745 after six for your best seats. Prices (all taxes paid) 50c-75c and $1.00.—Adv.

WOOSTER KEEPS LEAD, DEFEATS CASE, 71-52

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19—Wooster's Scots romped 71 to 52 over Case Tech in an Ohio Conference basketball game last night, remaining in command of the state-wide college cage race.

It was the 11th successive victory for the Scots and their 15th in 17 games. They stand second in the Ohio Conference with 11 wins and two losses. Ohio Wesleyan, eight wins and one loss, leads the conference. Earl Shaw led the Scots last night with 14 field goals for 28 points.

Xavier university, second in the all-state standings, also maintained its position, with a 61 to 44 defeat of Miami university. Xavier, paced by Art Morthorst with 21 and Malcolm McMullen with 19, was never in danger.

But Wilberforce State, another leader, stumbled over Cedarville, 52 to 43 as the victors led all the way. The halftime score was 29 to 23. It was Wilberforce's fourth loss in 18 starts and Cedarville's sixth victory against 12 defeats.

The Toledo Rockets came through in the closing minutes to nab a 59 to 55 victory from Akron in Ohio Conference play. Guard Dal Zuber's field goal put the Rockets ahead with three minutes to go. Hank Vaughn of Akron topped the scoring with 18 points. Zuber led Toledo with 17.

14 MARION BOYS IN 10-BOUT FIGHT SHOW

Arcuri Defeats Esbranshade in Best 3-Rounder.

Ernie Arcuri, fighting at 159 pounds, won an unanimous decision over Don Esbranshade, 160 pound winner of the Mansfield Friendly House tournament a few weeks ago, at Schwinger's Annex in the best bout staged last night. The fight was close and hard fought with both boys throwing damaging body punches. Arcuri carried the fight to Esbranshade the full three rounds, with Esbranshade never hard to find and always ready to stand toe to toe and battle. Arcuri, no doubt, influenced the judges' voting with his aggressive style of fighting.

Four other boxing hopefuls of Marion decisioned Friendly House fighters, including Johnny Chambers, 118 pound colored boy, who outboxed Bill Carney, 120; Buck Rogers, 144, who won over Bruce Wierich, 147, in a good bout; Jack Seckinger, 141, proving that good condition counts in a close one over Kenny Berry, 142; "Andy" Anderson, 143, a debatable decision over Ray Burdine, 147.

Two F. H. contestants, Gene Ayers, 123, and Bill Eccles, 180, decisioned Marion boys. Ayers won over Harold Crabtree, 126, and Eccles won a TKO over John Benedict, 190, in the third round when the referee stopped the bout.

In other fights, Dick Stout, 130, of Delaware, decisioned Wayne Benedict, 130, of Marion; Wilbur Middleton, 126, of Marion, was favored over Kenny Chevaller, 126, of Marion; Gene Hunt, 106, of Marion, decisioned Gene James, 108, also of Marion, and paperweights, Bobby and Billy Hunt ended in a draw. Both of the brothers showed definite boxing sense and ability. They combined to weigh in at 129½ pounds.

Rickey "Clarifies" Wilberforce Talk By Leaving Issue Muddled As Ever

The owners since ed knowledge of such a and "did not recall" ever ng the Negro question.

Tried To Get Report

ollow-up talk with news- en in New York yesterday, Rickey said he tried to get the written copy of the report but failed.

"By the light of further information since my address at Wilberforce I understand now that there were other reasons than the so-called Negro reference for removing the report from publicity," Rickey said. "I feel believe that the major reason for suppression of the report was the reference to Negro employment."

Rickey said the report covered perhaps as many as 20 pages and the Negro reference was not more than half a page. He also said about "35 or 40" officials attended the meeting.

Rickey said he "could not recall" what the other 19½ pages of the report contained. He admitted that it must have been important to necessitate the calling of a special meeting of all the owners. He said the meeting was held in Chicago in September, 1946, but could not recall who presided or whether Commissioner A. B. Chandler attended.

Can't Recall Rest

Rickey "could not recall" any business other than the racial part of the report. The rest of the owners "could not recall" the racial issue. President Ford Frick of the National league said he remembered the meeting and recalled that "we were dealing with player contracts, but I don't remember anything about the Negro phase or phrase."

"I wish to say," Rickey said in a typewritten statement, "that no club owner in the American or National league, with one exception, has ever protested to me personally the signing of Jackie Robinson by the Brooklyn club and several have expressed approval." He would not name the "exception."

HARDING TO MEET COLUMBUS CENTRAL

Prexies To Hit Road for Tilt with City Champs.

Harding's Prexies fresh from their 51-46 victory over Bucyrus, will trip to Columbus to engage the champ visiting Central quintet Friday night.

The Capital City boys flaunting a 20-1 record in the city circuit and a record of 18-1 in all games played, were paced by Dale Caldwell, all-league Columbus pick, as Friday Caldwell pitched in 14 two-pointers and two charity tosses for a total of 30 points as the Pirates beat Columbus North, 63-59, to take city title.

Columbus North succumbed to Harding earlier in the season by a score of 45-40 on the Edison hardwoods, indicating that the Prexies have a chance to pull an upset tomorrow.

The Presidents will start Merle Daum and Dick Riddle at the forward spots, Dick Thomas and Dick Leffler, Jim Reis or Don Johnson at the guard posts and Jim Coss at the pivot, and will probably employ the same pressing tactics used against Bucyrus Tuesday night, Coach Kenny Somerlot said.

Finished with their home contests for the season, Harding will again hit the road on Feb. 27 when they meet Bellevue in the final game of the season before entering tournament competition.

Central's starting five will probably have Bales and Marshall at forwards, Gray and Cooper at guards, and Caldwell at center.

Harding's junior varsitymen will start the fireworks tomorrow night when they tangle with the young Pirates in the preliminary contest at 7 p. m. They will be seeking their twelfth victory and hoping to start a new string, having been sidetracked by Bucyrus, 35-32, in their last outing.

Detroit Lions Expected To Sign Bo McMillen

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Feb. 19 — The Detroit Lions of the National Football league were poised today to sign Alvin N. (Bo) McMillin, popular Indiana university grid boss, to a seven-year coaching contract at a salary of $30,000 a year.

McMillin, gray-haired strategist of Hoosier football teams for 13 years, flew into Detroit last night, presumably to accept the long-term contract offered him by the new owners of the Lions.

To accept the contract, he would have to be released from the remaining eight years of an agreement with Indiana, which pays him at least $12,500 annually as its head coach and athletic director. Persons close to McMillin and the Lions were satisfied that the release was just a routine matter.

It was McMillin's second visit here within 10 days. While he would not say he was accepting the job, the Lions arranged a meeting of the board of directors for this afternoon, at which time President D. Lyle Fife was expected to announce formally that Bo is joining the pros.

Rumor also has it that McMillin will be accompanied to the professional post by two of his Hoosier assistants—Line Coach C. A. (Tim) Temerario and Backfield Coach Owen L. (Chili) Cochrane.

McMillin's post with the Lions would be a double-barreled one as head coach and general manager. As coach he would succeed Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, who went out just prior to sale of the club last month by Fred L. Mandel, Jr., to an eight-man syndicate headed by Fife.

Cincinnati Coach May Protest Loss to Ohio U.

By The United Press

CINCINNATI, Feb. 19 — University of Cincinnati Coach John Wiethe has indicated he may protest the defeat handed his team by Ohio university in a Mid-American Conference basketball game at Athens Tuesday night.

Ohio U won the game, 64 to 62.

"I don't want to be a poor loser," Coach Wiethe said, "but I'm duty bound to do my best for my players. I'm not sure they were legally beaten by Ohio U. Some Ohio U followers told me the same thing after the game."

If a protest is made, it will be based on the fact that Ohio U played with six men in the game, following a time out with 20 seconds to go.

"The officials called a foul on Al Robbins of our team while Ohio had six men in the game," Wiethe said. "Then they reversed themselves and called a technical foul on Ohio. They reversed themselves again when intimidated by Dutch Trautwein the Ohio coach, and made it a technical foul on each team."

Louis Gives Jersey Joe Walcott Two Weeks To Sign for Return Bout

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 — Joe Louis, his patience wearing thin, says he'll give Jersey Joe Walcott just two weeks to sign for a return shot at the heavyweight boxing crown.

[illegible] the Camden, N. J., veteran [illegible] series of exhibitions in England. Louis said he thought Lesnevich [illegible] champion [illegible] would prove a better drawing card than Walcott, anyhow.

"I think we'd draw a million dollar gate if Gus can knock out Billy Fox again," he added. "I also think he'd put up a better fight. He's a hard puncher." Lesnevich scored a KO over Fox March 5.

Walcott could not be reached immediately for comment on this newest turn.

Until yesterday the return engagement appeared almost set, with the differences revolving around distribution of movie proceeds. The Twentieth Century offered Jersey Joe a 22½ per cent cut. Walcott has asked for 30.

But another hitch arose when Louis' manager, Marshal Miles, disclosed the fight contract must have a purse guaranteeing Louis an even 30-70 per cent split for a return bout in case he should be beaten.

Miles said this didn't mean Louis, if a loser, would go back on his announcement to retire after his June battle. Louis agreed it was just "protection."

YOUNGSTOWN FUNDS LOW

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 19—Youngstown may have to pay its employes in scrip unless city council unearths more money, Finance Director J. E. Davis warned today. The administration of Mayor Charles P. Henderson began this year with a $493,715 deficit, Davis said, and current revenues will hit "the bottom of the barrel" next Oct. 15.

CITIZEN OF THE WORLD. Henry Noel, 24-year-old former Harvard university student of Princeton, N. J., reads a newspaper at his home in Kassel, Germany, after renouncing his U.S. citizenship to take up life as an ordinary laborer in Germany. In a prepared statement to U.S. Military Government officials, Noel said his decision to become a man without a country was not motivated by any "personal dislike" for the United States, its people or its policies. HULL the destruction of civilization, and that Japan could not injure the position of her allies.

We knew this because of the fact that our Navy and Army cipher experts, with remarkable ingenuity, had broken the Japanese code, and were deciphering government messages from Tokyo to Washington and other capitals, translating them and sending them to the state department for our information.

THESE INTERCEPTS, bearing our code name "Magic," played little part in our early negotiations, but were of great importance during the final phases. They enabled us to know many of the instructions the Japanese foreign minister was sending to Nomura and to other Japanese representatives; they gave us a check on what Nomura was reporting to Tokyo concerning the conversations he was holding with me; and they showed that the Japanese government was going ahead with its plans of conquest even while talking of peace with us. I looked upon them as I would upon a witness who was testifying against his own side of a case.

I naturally had to be careful never to give Nomura the slightest impression of this special knowledge. I had to take care to keep our conversation limited to the knowledge I might have gained from him or from normal diplomatic sources. So as to safeguard the security of these messages, I named one of my secretaries to handle them, keep track of them and make sure they were either returned to the Navy or destroyed.

Nomura on May 12 handed me a complete new set of documents, namely Japan's draft for an agreement and a paper containing an "oral explanation" of the proposals.

We were now in possession of Japan's official propositions. A basis was laid, as of May 12, for the discussion that went on, with one interruption, up to Pearl Harbor.

VERY FEW RAYS OF HOPE shone from the document. What Japan was proposing was mostly to her own advantage. It called, in effect, for a species of joint overlordship of the Pacific area by Japan and the United States, with Japan the baron of the part that embraced nine-tenths of the population and the wealth, and with little consideration for the rights and interests of other nations.

To have rejected it outright would have meant throwing away the only real chance we had had in many months to enter with Japan into a fundamental discussion of all the questions outstanding between us.

Consequently, we decided to go forward on the basis of the Japanese proposals.

As soon as the Japanese government realized we were willing to use the May 12 proposals as a basis for discussion, they began instantly to move, not in our direction with more conciliatory proposals, but in the opposite direction with changes that brought the proposals more into line with their imperialistic ambitions and their Axis alliance.

We had very definite knowledge of what Japan was planning. On the surface, an imperial conference was held in Tokyo on July 2, following which military steps of an alarming nature began to be taken. Between one and two million men were called to the armed forces, Japanese merchant vessels were suddenly recalled from the Atlantic, travel restrictions and strict censorship of mails and communications were imposed in Japan. The various steps taken were indicative of preparations for a major war.

UNDER THE SURFACE, our intercepts of Japanese government messages now gave us equally alarming information. A message from Tokyo to Berlin on July 2 contained these ominous paragraphs on policy:

"1. Imperial Japan shall adhere to the policy of contributing to world peace by establishing the Great East Asia Sphere of Co-Prosperity, regardless of how the world situation may change.

"2. The Imperial government shall continue its endeavor to dispose of the China incident, and shall take measures with a view to advancing southward in order to establish firmly a basis for her self-existence and self-protection."

A message from Matsuoka to Nomura on the same day added: "Preparations for southward advance shall be reinforced and the policy already decided upon with reference to French Indo-China and Thailand shall be executed. As regards the Russo-German war, although the spirit of the three-power axis shall be maintained, every preparation shall be made at the present and the situation shall be dealt with in our own way. In the meantime, diplomatic negotiations shall be carried on with extreme care. Although every means available shall be resorted to in order to prevent the United States from joining the war, if need be Japan shall act in accordance with the three-power pact and shall decide when and how force will be employed."

SHORTLY THEREAFTER Japanese troops on July 21 occupied the southern portions of Indo-China and were now in possession of the whole of France's strategic province, pointing like a pudgy thumb toward the Philippines, Malaya, and the Dutch East Indies.

Welles telephoned me at Sulphur Springs on July 23 to talk over with me what he should say to Nomura, who had requested an interview with him.

I said to him that the invasion of Southern Indo-China looked like Japan's last step before jumping off for a full-scale attack in the southwestern Pacific. Since it came in the midst of the conversations we were holding with Japan, I said I could see no basis for pursuing the conversations further.

Welles made these comments forcefully to Nomura and gave him my decision that our conversations had come to an end.

From now on our major objective with regard to Japan was to give ourselves more time to prepare our defenses.

Bonnie Rooney — By Darrell McClure

...OR LIKE YOU FEEL TODAY, HARVEY?
ME WELL? A DYING MAN NEVER FEELS WELL-
I'M TERRIBLE SORRY-I--
DON'T BE SORRY-IT WON'T BE LONG NOW BEFORE I'LL BE OUT OF THIS MISERABLE WORLD-
FREE AT LAST FROM A LIFE OF SICKNESS AND SORROW-WHEN THE END COMES, I WANT ALL MY FRIENDS TO CELEBRATE MY GOOD LUCK-
